The Contents of Global Privacy Law Review, Volume 03, Issue 4, 2022

Kluwer IP Reporter · Saturday, November 19th, 2022

We are happy to inform you that the latest issue of the journal is now available and includes the following contributions:

Tanguy Van Overstraeten & Richard Cumbley, Brace! Brace! Brace! The Wave of Incoming CJEU Decisions

This article considers the large number of pending decisions on data protection matters in front of the Court of Justice of the European Union (CJEU). The CJEU places great weight on protecting the rights of individuals and has not shied away from decisions that create significant practical difficulties for businesses. Businesses operating in the European Union should therefore brace for significant change ahead. The article also considers the extent to which the courts of the United Kingdom will continue to follow decisions of the CJEU.

If a national court is in doubt about the interpretation or validity of an EU law, it can ask the Court for clarification. The same mechanism can be used to determine whether a national law or practice is compatible with EU law. The CJEU also resolves legal disputes between national governments and EU institutions, and can take action against EU institutions on behalf of individuals, companies or organisations.”>CJEU
